TUNNEL CONTRACT DRAWN.

RAPID TRANSIT COMMISSIONERS DIDN'T WAIT FOR THE COURT.

The Preparation of Specifications Harried in Advance of its Decision—Cits Run the Board, but Tammany Leader Sheeban Learned What the Specifications Were to Be. The Rapid Transit Commissioners are annoyed. They are even angry. That which has disturbed the serenity of their spirits is the prominence given to the report that John C. seehan is to be at the head of the company which is to build and operate the underground railroad, should the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, after it has heard the arguments to-morrow, direct the Rapid Transit Commissioners to let the contract for building

The Citizens' Union controls the Rapid Transit Commission. The President of the commis sion is Alexander E. Orr, who was a Mugwump before he became a Cit. Another member of the commission is Charles Stewart Smith, Vice-Pres-ident of the Citizens' Union and Chairman of the Union's Executive Committee. Both of these gentlemen have grown gray in trying to purify the city Government. It is extremely annoying to them, therefore, that the slightest prominence should be given to the fact that men who have dedicated their lives to civic purity should, for any purpose whatever, form an alliance with the nominal head of Tammany Hall, which they have asserted, more than once, to be the incarnation of civic corruption,

The Rapid Transit Commissioners did everything they could think of to keep from the put lie the fact that they had been dickering with Mr. Sheehan. When asked if they had given any thought to the personnel of the con pany which should build and operate the road, should the road ever be built, they gave evasive answers. "Oh, dear, no!" they said. "we couldn't think of considering that question now. We haven't obtained permission to build the road yet, and our authority to let the contract is contingent upon the approval of the court.

Then, if pinned down, the Commissioners would talk vaguely about capitalists in Baltimore, Chicago, Oshkosh, and the isles of the sea who had, by letter or in person, made inquiries about the terms of the contract and who would probably bid on it. All this vagueness and bosh about the contract question was, of course, only a cloak to cover the real business in which the Commissioners were engaged in spite of the fact that the Rapid Transit act postponed the preparation of specifications to the decision of the Court, they went right ahead geting them ready. They n w have the contract ready to sign. It was drawn several weeks ago under the immediate supervision of Alexande. E. Orr and Charles Stewart Smith, through whom the Citizens' Union controls the commission, assisted by the legal employees of the board. It is now in the hands of a committee of engineers, who, having been carefully instructed as to what is expected of them, will approve the contract within a few days, if they have not already done so. The contract covers over 300 printed pages.

In practically the same shape in which it is now, the contract existed when, according to a statement made by Mr. Sheehan last Thursday, he was makit ga ne examination into the details of construction to find out what would be required of the contractors, who are to build and operate the road. Mr. Sheehan told what he found out, and no one, of course, believes that such important and detailed information would be accepted. the Court, they went right ahead geting them he was maki g an examination into the details of construction to find out what would be required of the contractors, who are to build and operate the road. Mr. Sheehan told what he found out, and no one, of course, believes that such important and detailed information would be accepted from any less reliable source than the contract itself. With the leader, or nominal leader, of Tammany Hall having access to the contract for building the road, drafted by Citizens' Union Rapid Transit Commissioners, it is not so much a matter of wonder that other contractors have got the idea that nobody but a Tammany contractor need apply.

The Hapid Transit Commissioners are disturbed over another matter. Some of the New York newspapers which have been assisting the Commissioners to boom the projected road have boldly asserted that it is known already what the decision of the Appellate Division will be and that, therefore, it is practically assured that the road will be built. One of the organs of the commission printed the following in reference to this on Friday:

""" On Monday next the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court is to hear arguments upon which will be based its decision as to whether the report of its special commission recommending the construction of the system, as settled upon by the Board of Rapid Transit Commissioners, will prevail with the court, and preparations have been made to at once push the great scheme onward.

"As soon as the expected favorable decision of the court is handed down the detailed plans will be given out."

The Commissioners do not like statements like the foregoing to be printed, even in their own newspapers. They fear that it looks too much

The Commissioners do not like statements like the foregoing to be printed, even in their own newspapers. They fear that it looks too much as if they were trying to hold up the Court. For that reason, a person, making the request for the Commissioners, asked yesterday that THE SUN state as a positive fact that the Rapid Transit Commissioners have really received no assurances from the Justices of the Appellate Division as to how the question will be decided.

The Commissioners are also grieved at the ommissioners are also grisved at the nt made by another of their papers in a recent editorial. This statement was recent editorial. This statement was:

"Delay might prove fatal to the whole project, as new legislation might be needed after the new charter goes into effect, and the long contest might have to be taken up afresh."

The Commissioners are stirred up over this, because they say that the statement implies that the citizens of the Greater New York—the ones who will really have to pay the cost of the road, if it should be built—would not sanction any such expenditure of the city's moneyton any such expenditure of the city's moneyton any such expenditure of the city's money. the road, if it should be built—would not sanction any such expenditure of the city's money.
They think such a statement implies that the Commissioners have a bunco game that, if worked at all, must be begun before the people of Brooklyn and Staten Island and Long Island City and of all the other annexed territory have a voice in the affairs of the city. No matter what the real purpose of the Commissioners may be, they on't want the people to get the notion that, although they are Cits, they are bunco-steerers.

It was practically admitted by a representative of the commission yesterday that the Commissioners base their hope of a favorable decision from he Appellate Division on the point to be urged by their counsel that the mere letting of the contract to build the road does not create a new debt for the city. It has been learned that counsel for the Commissioners will insist in their argument to morrow that the city does not,

of the contract to build the road does not create a new debt for the city. It has been learned that counsel for the city. It has been learned that counsel for the Commissioners will insist in their argument to-morrow that the city does not, and cannot, become indebted for the full cost of the road until the road is completed.

Those who believe otherwise insist that any much argument must prove fallacious, but, in order to meet the Commissioners with all the magnanimity possible, they are willing to concede, for argument, that this is true. Then they remind the Commissioners of the thousand and one public improvements that are already underway, or soon will be. The Sun printed a partial list of these the other day. There is no going back on the list, for, in the case of most of them, the contracts have already been let. The Sun has also shown that, taking into consideration only the funded debt of the city, and taking no account of the cost of these various improvements, which will aggregate over $100,000,000, the margin which the city has for incurring debt is a little over $49,000,000.

Remembering this, remembering all the improvements already undertaken and their cost, and admitting they contention of the Commissioners relative to the debt incurred by the city when the contract for the proposed underground road is let, those opposed to the underground road is et, the condition of the food. It must so on with the improvements begun under any circumstances. The lowest estimated cost of the underground road is $30,000,000.

timated cost of the underground road is $30,000,000.

Now, under this supposition, the city goes forward with its public works and its underground railroad. Under the various acts of the Legislature relating to the issue of bonds to raise funds for city improvements, the numbic pality issues such bonds. This, of course, will then be done, upon the assumption of the Commissioners, before any liability accrues under the contract for the construction of the railroad in question. Then, under this plan, a time must inevitably come, in the prosecution of the work on the road and the other improvements, when the $49,000,000 of margin for incurring debt has been used up. Then the Commissioners and the citizens of the city will have presented to them the pleasing spectacle of a half-completed underground railroad and of other half-completed public works in all parts of the city.

Run of the Monmouth Munt Club.

RED BANK, N. J., Nov. 20.—The members of the Monmouth Hunt Club enjoyed the best run of the season this afternoon. They went direct to Freehold, and from there a drag was laid to Tinton Falls over the stiffest country in Mon mouth county. The start was made at 1 o'clock, and it was a hot pace from start to o'clock, and it was a hot pace from start to finish. During this run Messrs. Griswold and Herbert both had a fall. At Tinton Falls, at 2:30, a deer was released, which ran to the west and was lost after a few miles run in Wildcat Swamp. Those participating in the meet and their mounts were as follows: M. of H. P. IS BRYAN COURTING GOLDBUGST

Gold Standard Demokrate in St. Lepis Urger to Artend a Meeting in Mis Honor. St. Louis, Nov. 20,-A story is being circu lated to the effect that last night's demonstration in honor of William J. Bryan was designed by the free silver leaders as a first step toward conciliating the gold standard Demo-crats. This story hinges on the assertion that free coinage will not be the dominant issue in 1900.

Hardly had Bryan reached the city yester day when prominent free silverites volunteered to wait upon the leaders of the gold Democrat and invite them to seats on the platform at the Bryan meeting at Music Hall, and also to meet him at dinner. The messengers were G. D. Mc-Clure, Virgil Rule, ex-Gov. William J. Stone Mozes Rumsey, L. M. Rumsey, and M. C. Wei-

Moses Rumsey, L. M. Rumsey, and M. C. Webore.

Their appeals to the gold Demcorats they approached indicated that they believed the free silver issue and the Chicago platform were dead. Many went so far as to say so. Among the gold Democrats approached were Judge Wilbur Boyle, James L. Blair, James Campbell, R. Graham Frost, Rolla Wells, ex-Gov. D. R. Francis, C. C. Maffitt, F. W. Lehmann, and W. C. McCreery.

Not one of them accepted the invitation, notwithstanding that all were invited by personal friends. In many instances the gold men be came angry.

Some of the gold men report that the free sliverites who approached them urged a cessation of the fight on the currency question, saying that its continuation was only playing into the hands of the Republicans.

CITS' STECKLER ANNEX.

A Cit Explains That Alfred Wants to Be a S preme Court Justice.

A Citizens' Union leader was discussing yes erday the various elements which united in support of their ticket at the last election.
"I suppose you know why we got the suppor of the Manhattan Democracy-that is, the Steckler brothers." said he. was because of this fact. The terms of two Supreme Court Justices expire next year those of Joseph F. Daly and William N. Cohen. The Manhattan Democracy want N. Cohen. The Manhattan Democracy want us to make a campaign next year for those two places, and would like to get one of them. If they are not successful in that, they will hang on and try for the place of either Justice Barrett or Justice Bookstaver the following year. I don't know what their chance will be, but there are a good many in the organization who believe with me that their conversion to the Union was of the eleventh-hour sort, and will rather object to their getting away with anything. I don't know if we will make a campaign next year, although it is true that Charles Stewart Smith and some others favor such a plan."

FELLED A FOLUNTEER POLICEMAN. ichauffler's Leg Broken Because He Tried to Arrest a Thieving Hoy.

William Schauffler of 500 West Forty-sixth street walked up Eighth avenue just before 5 o'clock last evening, intending to call on a friend who has a grocery shop at 929, near Fifty-fourth street. As Schauffler reached the entrance to the shop he saw several small boys filling their pockets with nuts from the stock which his friend had put outside on show Anxious to protect the interests of the grocer Schauffler made a rush for the boys. The group scattered, and the boys fled in every direction. Schauffler picked out a youth whose ands were filled with nuts, and pursued him hands were filled with nuts, and pursued him into the middle of the avenue. There he captured the boy, and forcing him to keep the evidence of his guilt in his hands, marched him back toward the shop.

A group of men had gathered to watch the chase. As Schauffler neared the sidewalk with his prisoner, a man stepped forward.

"What are you doing with that boy!" demanded the man.

"Taking him back to where he stole these nuts." replied the grocer's friend.

"What are you doing with that boy!" demanded the man.
"Taking him back to where he stole these nuts." replied the grocer's friend.
"It isn't any of your business whether he steals nuts or not," said the man.
"The grocer's a friend of mine," responded Schauffler, stepping on the curbstone, "and I'm not going to stand by and see him robbed."
"Well, you ain't going to take that boy to the grocer," said the man. With the words he struck Schauffler in the breast. Schauffler released his grip on the boy, who dodged into the crowd an! escaped. Schauffler swayed for a moment under the force of the blow and lost his footing on the curb. He toppled to the carriage way, and his left leg, on which his whole weight fell, was broken. He was sent to Roosevett Hospital in an ambulance. The man who struck him was not arrested. Schauffler lives at 500 West Forty-sixth street.

BURGLARS USE DYNAMITE. Steel Safe a Foot Thick Blown Open by Skilful Professionals.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20.-Skilful professional burglars forced open a steel safe in the mattress factory of Fred Walpert & Co. early this morn ing, and secured between $300 and $500 in cash, in addition to checks, notes, drafts, and other valuable papers. The safe, which is of an improved burglar-proof combination-lock pattern, is eight feet high, and has doors a foot thick composed of plates of hardened steel. It was blown open with dynamite.

The job was one of the cleverest the detectives have seen in many a day. With a powerful rotary breast drill and black diamond bit, the burglars bored a quarter-inch hole through the hardened steel plates in a slanting direction beside the knob of the combination tock. When they had reached the interior of the lock, they they had reached the interior of the lock, they crumbled a stick of dynamite into small pieces and worked them through the hole into the open parts of the lock.

Next an exploder was placed on the end of a piece of fuse several feet in length and introduced into the lock among the dynamite. The space around the fuse in the drilled hole was neatly plugged up with cotton and wax. The end of the fuse was led around to the rear of the safe, wet blankets were hung over the front of it, and wet mattresses were stood up against it and tied with ropes. Dry mattresses were then placed against the wet ones and the fuse was touched off and the safe opened. The burglars left behind a set of tools of the finest make and nearly new.

to Paster of the Rast Marlom Presbyterie Church and Ecclesiastical Counsel for Warmawink Unable to Pay a Butcher's Bill of 8402.00—His Salary Par in Arresrs. It is not necessary to go into country districts find clergymen, ostensibly prosperous whose salaries are far in arrears and who are financially embarrassed on account. This fact was brought out yes terday in the examination in supplementar; roccedings of the Rev. James G. Patterson pastor of the East Harlem Presbyterian Church which is located at 223 East 116th street. Dr Patterson owes Henry F. Mayer, a butcher Mayer took the case into court and secured judgment, and yesterday his attorney, Charles L. Hoffman, put the clergyman through the inquisition that comes in supplementary proceedings in his office in the Vander bilt building. The account had been run up in the last three years with Rose Brothers of 117th street and Lexington avenue. Some months ago they sold out to Mayer, who pressed Dr. Paterson for payment. The doctor was not able to pay the bill. In the course of the examination, Dr. Patterson said that he lived at 1770 Madsion avenue, where he and his family occupy apartments at a yearly rental of $550. He came to this city from Erie, Pa., five years ago, where he had received a salary of $2,000 a year. When he accepted the call of the East Harlem Presbyterian Church the agreement was that the church was to pay him $1,500 a year and the Church Extension Society of the New York Presbytery was to add to this sum the yearly allowance of $1,000, making his salary $2,500 year. For the first two years of his stay he re ceived all the money due him, but for the las three years, while the Church Extension Society has baid him regularly, his salary from the church itself has been growing smaller and smaller until it amounted to no more than $10 week, and one week it got down to $6.

That part of his salary which is paid by the Church is supposed to come from the church col lections, which are so divided that on certain lections, which are so divided that on certain Sundays he gots two-thirds of the collection and the sexton one-third. Among the questions put to him were the following:
"Have you a bank account!"
"I used to have one, but not since I came to New York."
"What is the size of your family!"
"I have a wife and four children."
"Do any of your children work!"
"I have a son who works in a bank, and he gives me $5 a week."

ing at weddings and funerals?

"Sometimes."

"How much?"

"Well, I think I have officiated at four weddings in the past few months. In two compensation was promised, but I never received anything but good wishes. In the other two I received $2 each."

"How about?funerals?"

"I have had many funerals lately, but received nothing. Let me see, yes, I did get $2 once. It was alipped into my hands after the services, and I was agreeably surprised at receiving it."

The examination was adjourned until next Saturday.

The examination was adjourned to Saturday.

Dr. Patterson is one of the leading members of the Presbytery, and is a member of several important committees. He took a prominent part in the Warszawiak case, as he was counsel for the missionary when the latter was tried by the Presbytery a short time ago. the Presbytery a short time ago. When seen at his home last night he expressed himself as being deeply mortified at the publicity given to his private affairs.

"The whole thing amounts to this," he said. "I am not able, to pay this bill now although I could easily discharge the debt if I should receive the money that is due me. My salary for the last three years is over $2,000 in arrears. If I had that money I could pay the bill. This man Mayer, who brought the claim against me, and his lawyers, Hoffman and Hoffman, are trying to make capital by persecuting me. So long as Rose Brothers had the store there was no trouble. long as Rose Brothers had the store there was no trouble. I traded with them for three years, and in that time paid them hundreds of dollars, as much as $200 at a time. They knew what my circumstances were and never pressed me for payment, knowing that I would settle as soon as I possibly could.

"The church of which I am pastor is ten years old. It has never been financially prosperous. Its people are poor and it has always had the help of the Church Extension Society. The building is only half completed. Three years ago orders were given by the Presbytery to sell three lots and use the proceeds for finishing the church, but nothing has been done. If the church were completed I think it could get along all right. Moreover, our congregation, like many here in Harlem, is not stable. There are no pew rentals and the church must be supported by voluntary subscriptions. These are necessarily small and as a consequence my salary has not been paid.

"I cannot sue for the money that is due me, and in that way I am at a disadvantage, but

TORTURED BY HOBBERS.

Fire Applied to an Old Man's Feet to Porce Him to Reven! His Treasure.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 20 .- Eil Balling er, 80 years old, of Hinton, was tortured last night by three robbers, who tried to make him tell where he had money hidden. They bound his hands and feet and gagged him by stuffing a handkerchief into his mouth. Then they searched the house for money, but succeeded in finding only 60 cents.

Believing that a large amount was hidden somewhere on the premises they told the old man that they would burn him alive unless he revealed the hiding place of his treasure. He assured them that 60 cents was positively all the money in the house. The robbers removed his shoes and applied fire to his feet in their efforts to force him to tell. He continued to protest that he had no money. After watching him writhe in agony for soveral minutes they placed the gag back into his mouth and locking the door left him. He is in a critical condi ion. The County Court to-day offered a reward of $150 for the capture and conviction of the robbers. assured them that 60 cents was positively William Seymour Tyler, Professor of Greek at Amherst College for more than half a century, died at the home of his son, Prof. J. M. Tyler of Amherst, Mass., on Friday night. He retired from active teaching in the spring of 1892, and since that time had been in comparatively good health until a year ago. He was born in Hartord, Pa., Sept. 2, 1810. Job Tyler, one of his ancestors, was among the earliest settlers of Andover, Mass. His father was a farmer. 1826 he entered Hamilton College, where he studied for two years. Then he went to Amherst, graduating with the class of 1830, which with his death, is left with but one living member. The next four years he was tutor in Greek and Latin at Amherst. Thereafter he attended the Andover Theological Sem inary. He also studied under Dr. Skinner in this city. In 1859 be was ordained without this city. In 1859 he was ordained without charge by a Cangregational Council held at Amherst, and, while he was never a pastor of a church, he frequently preached at the college church and supplied the publits of other churches. During his professorahip at Amherst Prof. Tyler twice visited Europe, in 1850-56 making a tour of Italy, Greece and the Holy Land and in 1869-70 going through Egypt and spending several months at Athens. In 1847 he received the degree of D. D. from Harvard and in 1871 that of Idl. D. from Amherst. He prepared and annotated many classical text books and wrote several religious and historical works. Among his books are: "Historical works. Address at Schil-Cententy and Crito" (1859). "Memoir of Dr. Henry Lobdell, Missionary to Assyria" (Boston, 1859); "Theology of the Greek Poets" (1867), "Plutarch on the Delay of the Deity," with Prof. Horatio B. Hackett New York, 1867); "Address at Schil-Centennial of Amherst College, with Other Addresses on That Occasion" (1871), "History of Amherst College" (1873), "Demosthenes's Philippica and Olynthiacs" (1875) and nine books of the "Iliad" (New York, 1886). He was President of the Board of Trustees of Mount Holyoke College and a trustee of both Smith College and Williston Seminary, at Easthampton, Mass. He leaves a widow and four sons.

Former State Senator Loren B. Sessions died suddenly in Panama, N. Y., yesterday morning. He was born in Brandon, Vt., in 1828, his parents being Join S. and Sally Green Sessions, and came to Chautauqua county in 1834. He read law with his brother, the Hon. Walter L. Sessions, was admitted to the bar in 1852, and practiced until 1881. He was State Senator from 1878 to 1881, and was conspicuous by reason of his support of Chauncey M. Depew for United States Senator and of a charge of bribery preferred by Assemblyman Bradley of Cattaraugus county. For years Mr. Sessions was identified with the Republican party, but last year he supported Bryan. He is survived by his widow, one son, William B., of Ogdensburg, and two daughters, Mrs. Warren Couch and Mrs. Fred Cowells, who are teachers in the Berkeley School in this city.

Symphony No. 8 Beethoven. Part 2-8, Symphonic ballade, "Voy Wagner: 5. Slegfried's Rhine Journey, Wagner. The Symphonic ballade by Tschaikowsky, "Yoyvode," was published after Tschaikowsky's death from a nanuscript score in possession of one of his pupils stage, where Tschalkowsky had thrown it in disgust after a rehearsal of the work, which had not been to his liking. The ballade follows closely the ramous poem of Pushkin's, in which the old Voy vode (the Prince) comes home to his cas-tle after the war to find his young wife's alceping room empty. Bidding a servant follow him he enters the garden in search of her, and there is the moonlight, under the trees, he finds his wife and her former lover. As they whisper to each other the story of their love and final separation through he marriage to the Prince, the Voyvode bids the servan take one of two pistols that he has brought with him, and to aim at the lover, while he (the Prince) would kill the faithless wife. But the servant, whose tende it from the lips of the young pair, says he canno aim-his hand trembles. The Voyvode command him to fire, and as the servant shoots the Voyvod falls to the ground, shot through the heart.

Victor Herbert and his Twenty second Regimes Hand will be heard in concert to-night at the Brond-way Theatre. The organization is said to have had a most successful tour through the country. Mr. Her bert will play the violoncello, and there will be other

The first piano recital of Raoul Pugno, the cel brated French planist, will take place at Carnegie Music Hall, Thursday afternoon, Dec. 2, at 3 P. M. and upon this occasion Mr. Pugno will render compo-sitions only of the new French school.

On Tuesday evening the Jeanne Franko trio will give its second concert of the season at Chickering Hall. The programme includes Schubert's trio in B fist, and a manuscript trio of F sharp minor by Constantin von Sternberg, who will play the plano part in his composition. Signor del Papa will sing numbers by Tosti and Celega. At the third concert Xaver charwenks will play in a trio of his own compo sition.

The directors of the Musical Art Society of New York announce that two concerts during this sesson will be given in Carnegie Hall, on the evenings of Dec. 16 and March 17, under the direction of M. Frank Damrosch. The chorus of sixty artists will render songs to worship of the Virgin by composer of the Palestrina school, Christmas songs by Von Herzogenberg and Pratorious, Russian songs, and the eighteen Liebesifeder by Brahms. On Dec. 16 Ysaye will be the sololat. The purpose of this society is to give the best and purest music in the most artis tic way. The Musical Art Society should not be confounded with the so-called Society of Musical Arts. which gives vaudeville entertainments at the Astoria

Killed by Falling from a May Loft.

PORT JERVIS, Nov. 20.—Philip Fahrentock, an aged Pike county farmer, living a mile west of Lackawaxen, fell from the hay loft of his barn yesterday afternoon and struck his head against a mowing machine. He was found dead on the barn floor toward evening by his son, who, alarmed by his prolonged absence, started in search of him. He was 73 years old.

SIEGRIST'S ODD MISHAP.

CUT HIS NECK ON A BROKEN VASE AT THE ASTORIA. me Faint in Mis Room, and in Falling

Knocked the Vane from the Mantel-W Acres the Street to a Bruz Store, Where the Wound, Not a Bad One, Was Bressed. H. A. Siegrist of St. Louis, a guest at the Waldorf-Astoria, met with a peculiar accident in his room shortly before 1 o'clock yesterday morning. Mr. Siegrist, with his wife and sister-in-law, occupied rooms 570 and 571 on the fifth floor of the Astoria section. They were at the Horse Show on Friday evening, and returned home shortly after midnight. The hotel corridors were jammed with guests, and at one time it was estimated that there were 3,000 men and women in the big hotel, Mr. Slegrist complained of feeling faint, and he and his wife hurried to their room. They had been there but a short time when a physician was burriedly sent for. Dr. Adams and Dr. Ely, the hotel physicians, were in the throng in the corridors and could not be found readily to answer the summons.

When it was learned in Mr. Siegrist's room that the physicians were not on hand Mr. Siegrist came out and hurried downstairs in the elevator to the hotel office. It was noticed that he was bleeding profusely from a cut behind the right car. He was calm, however, and did not think his injury a serious one. Manager George C. Boldt saw Mr. Siegrist when he came out of the elevator, and, as he could not find a physician, Mr. Boldt sent Mr. Siegrist across the street to Daggett & Ramsdell's drug store to have his injury attended to. While Mr. Siegrist was in the drug store he became very pale, and the clerk who was trying

While Mr. Siegrist was in the drug store he became very pale, and the clerk who was trying to stanch the flow of blood from the wound became alarmed, and sent in a hurry call to Hellevue Hospital for an ambulance. The ambulance arrived at the drug store in four minutes, making one of the quickest calls on record Surgeon Stone administered some simple restoratives, and Mr. Siegrist was soon as well as ever. The cut in the back of his neck was about three inches long, but not deep enough to be serious. Surgeon Stone dressed it in a short while.

In the meantime Mrs. Siegrist had become considerably agitated and followed her husband. She was assured by Manager Boldt, however, that he husband was all right. She told Mr. Holat that Mr. Siegrist had become suddenly faint when he reached his room and had fallen, knocking dow it a small glass vase on the mantel with his hand. He struck the back of his head on a broken fragment of the vase.

After having his wound dressed Mr. Siegrist walked across to the hotel and went up to his room. There was a little excitement around the hotel offlee, but it was no more than would ordinarily be caused by such an incident. Pierre Botkine, the Russian delegate to the Behring Sea Sea Commission, occupied a room adjoining that of Mr. Siegrist, and he was in his room when the accident occurred. He says he heard Mrs. Siegrist scream when her husband fell and he ran out of his room. He saw nothing which would tend to show that the accident had not occurred just as it was described by Mrs. Siegrist.

Yesterday it was said that Mr. Siegrist had recovered from his hurt and was in his usual health. He decided to rest for the day, however, and declined to receive callers. He is the son-in-law of Dr. J. J. Lawrence of St. Louis, the millionaire manufacturer of proprietary medicines. Mr. Siegrist is associated with Dr. Lawrence in the management of the business. He has a magnificent home in St. Louis and is well known at Narragansett Pler and Newport. He may feturn to St. Louis to-morrow.
